

Rules and Requirements for Directed Study

The student designs an independent research proposal, which includes original and secondary research. A generic course description is: Directed readings and research under the supervision of a faculty member. The student designs a plan of work.

- 1.- To be eligible for an directed study, a student must have completed at least 75 credit hours, be majoring in the College of Business Administration, and have a minimum grade point average of 2.5.
2. - Each directed study must have a faculty supervisor who pre-approves and supervises the directed study proposal.
3. - A directed study consists of independent fieldwork and additional hours of academic assignments, which are equivalent in rigor to an upper level junior or senior level course. The exact nature of the academic assignments are mutually agreed upon between the student and the faculty supervisor.
4. - Undergraduate students register via over-ride for one to three credits of BUS 491 and BUS 492. The code 491 is used for the fall semester and 492 is for spring and summer registration term.
5. - Directed studies must have prior approval from the Dean.